MANAGING ARTICLES

To manage articles, you will need to use the article manager. To access the article manager,

- Go to http://adventist.org.in/ and log in using your given username and password.

- Select "Article Manager" from the "Content" drop-down menu.

From the article manager, you can add, edit, publish, unpublish, delete, and perform many other operations on the articles on the website.

The articles are organized into categories and then the categories comprise sections. For example, the Southern Asia Division News articles are in the "Division News" category which is found in the "News" section. The Barn articles are found in the "Barn" category of the "Articles" section. The articles in the "Division News" category are the ones that show up when you click on the "Division News" item in the main menu on the website. Similarly, the Barn articles are shown when you click on the "Barn" item in the main menu.

1.1 Adding New Articles

1. From the article manager, click on the "New" button in the upper right hand corner.

1. Once on the new article page, fill in the title, section, category, published, and front page information (it is not necessary to fill in the alias since it will be completed automatically).
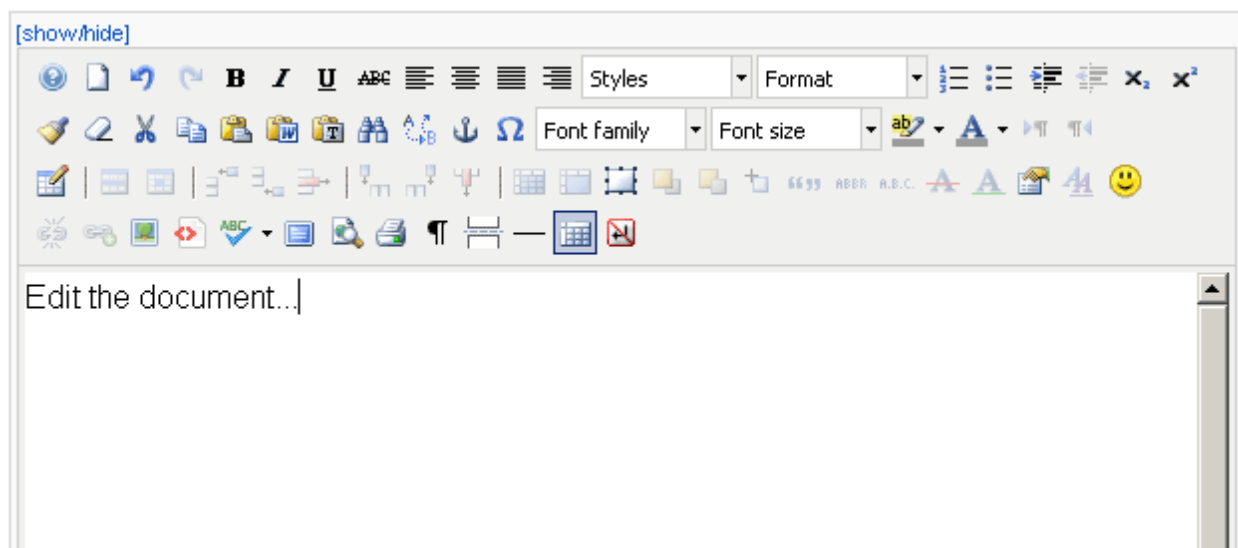

1. If you are creating an article for Barn, then select "Articles" from the "Section" drop-down menu. If you are creating an article for the Southern Asia Division News, then select "News" from the "Section" drop-down menu. Either way, the correct category should automatically be selected in the "Category" drop-down menu.

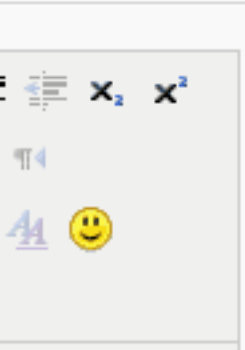

1. If you want the article to show up on the front page of the website then select "Yes" for the "Front Page" selection.

2. If you are creating a new article, you probably will want it to show up on the website so leave "Yes" selected for the "Published" selection.

3. Next you are ready to edit your article using the article text editor.

4. You can type in the content of your article here or you can edit the article in a separate program (such as Microsoft Word), copy the content of that document, and paste it here.

5. There are other parameters and options that you could set, but the only thing that remains which will need to be filled out is the Metadata information. This is important because it factors into how the article will show up in search results. To fill in the metadata, select "Metadata information" from the menu panes on the right side of the page.

1. The metadata pane should slide down so that you can enter the Description and Keywords. You can fill in the Author if you feel so inclined and the Robots field if you know what you are doing.

1. The Description field should just include a short description of the article (I find the first paragraph of an article usually works quite well). The keywords field should include keywords from the article separated by commas. For example, if an article was about how dairy cows in Nepal were not producing as much milk, the keywords you entered might be, "Nepal, dairy, cows, decline, milk, production."

2. All that remains now is to save the article.

1. If you wish to save your changes and stay on the same page, then click "Apply." If you wish to save your changes and return to the main Article Manager page, then click "Save."

1.2 Adding Pictures to an Article

1. If you wish to have a picture embedded in your article you will need to use the editor on the edit article page to do so.

2. First, click on the "Insert/Edit Image" button.
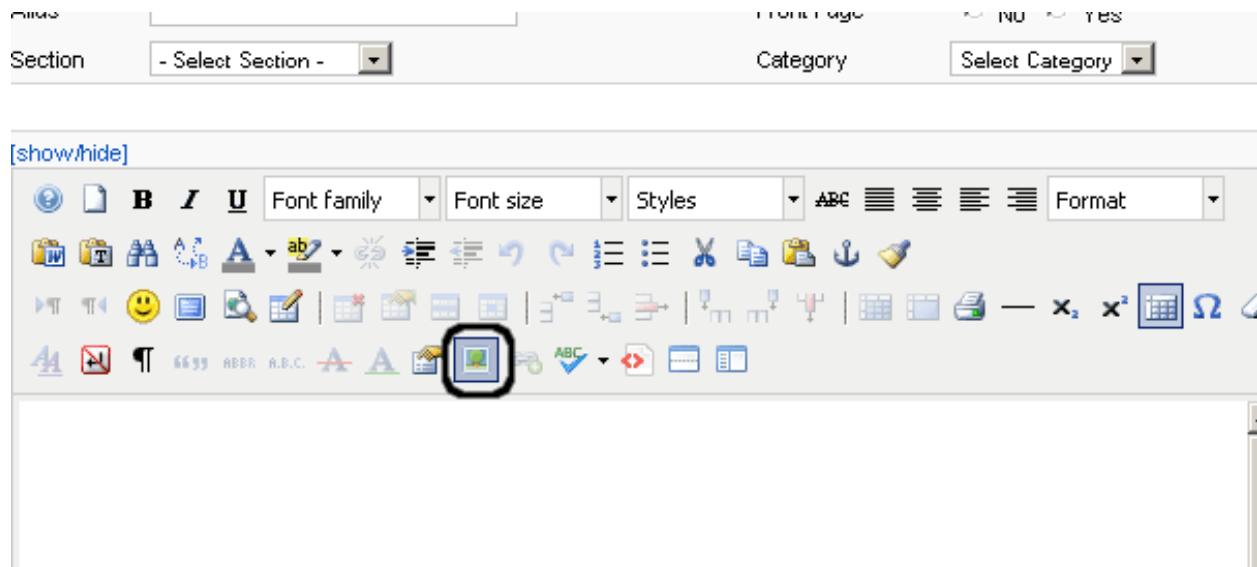

1. Then you should get the following dialog screen from which you should select "Upload."
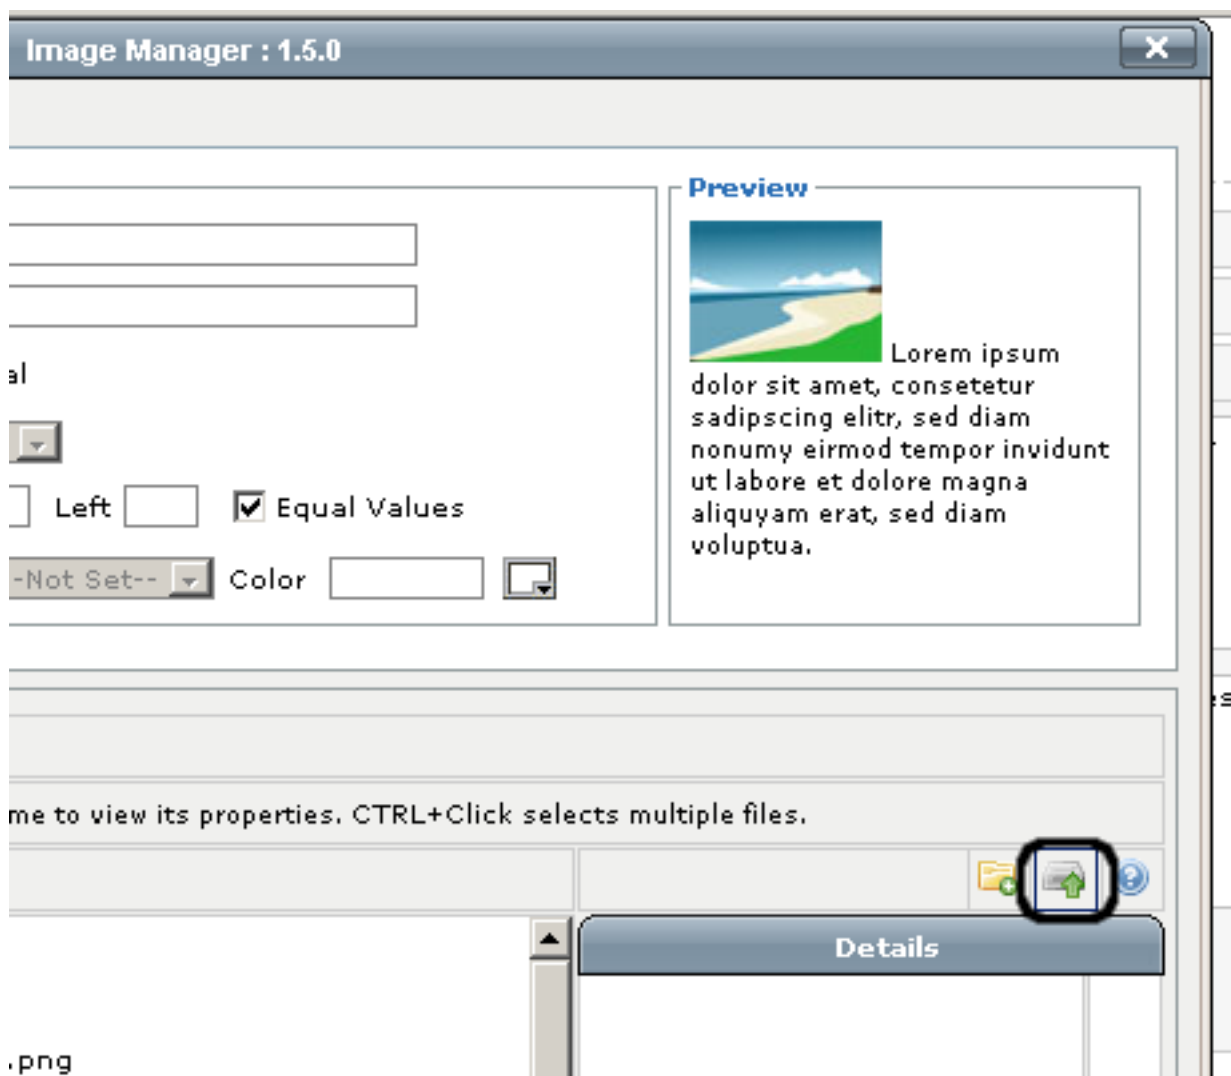

1. From the "Upload" dialog box, select "Add" and locate the picture you wish to upload from on your hard drive. Select the picture and click "Open."
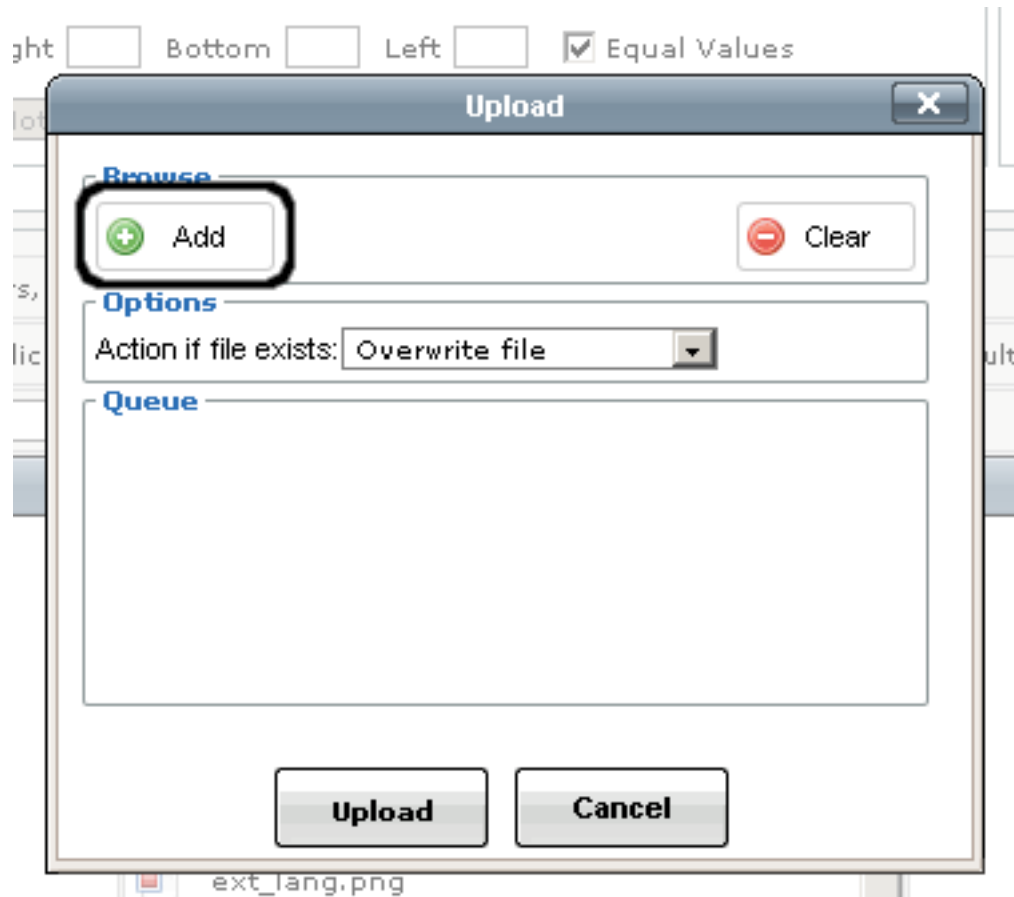

1. Once you have selected the pictures you want to upload, click on the "Upload" button.
1. Once you see a green check-mark next to the file, click on "Cancel" to exit the dialog.
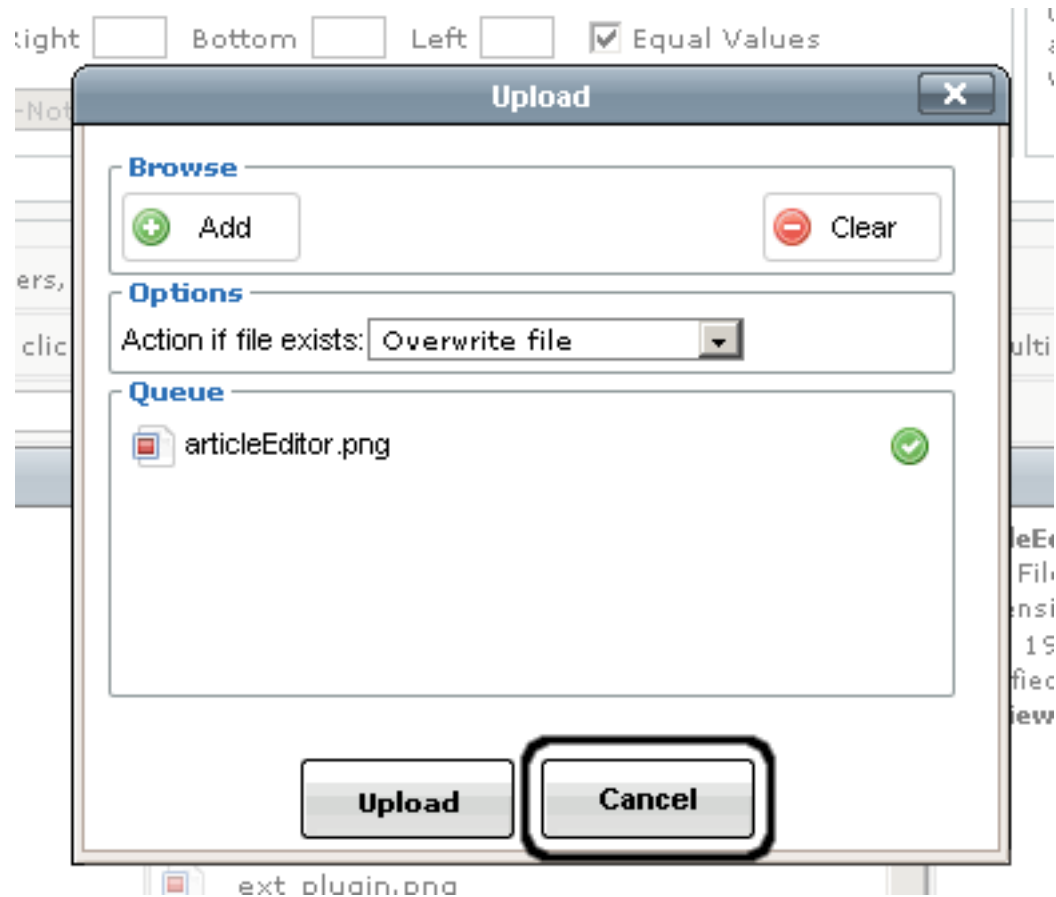

1. The next step is to select the picture from the list of pictures in the middle of the "Image Manager." Even if it seems to already be selected, make sure to click on it and check that the "Properties" at the top of the image manager get filled in with the default values.
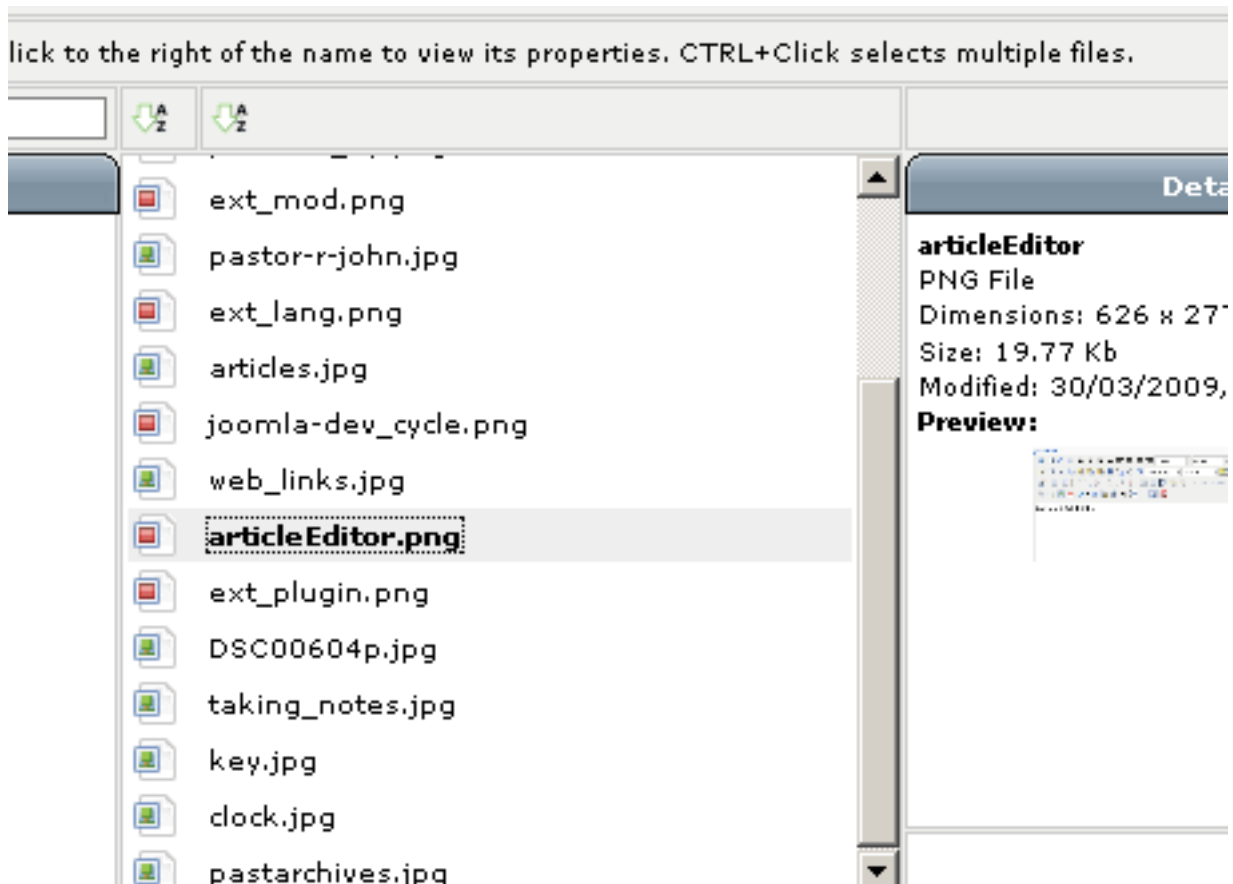

1. Now it is time to fill in the properties with the values that you want. The URL should be filled in automatically, so you do not need to worry about that, but there are a couple of things here you will want to change. First of all, set the "Alternate Text" field to something that describes the picture. This alternate text will be what people see if they do not download the image (for whatever reason) or what blind people will hear if they access the site with a screen reader. If the image is simply decoration and the picture doesn't really add any meaning, leave the "Alternate Text" field blank.
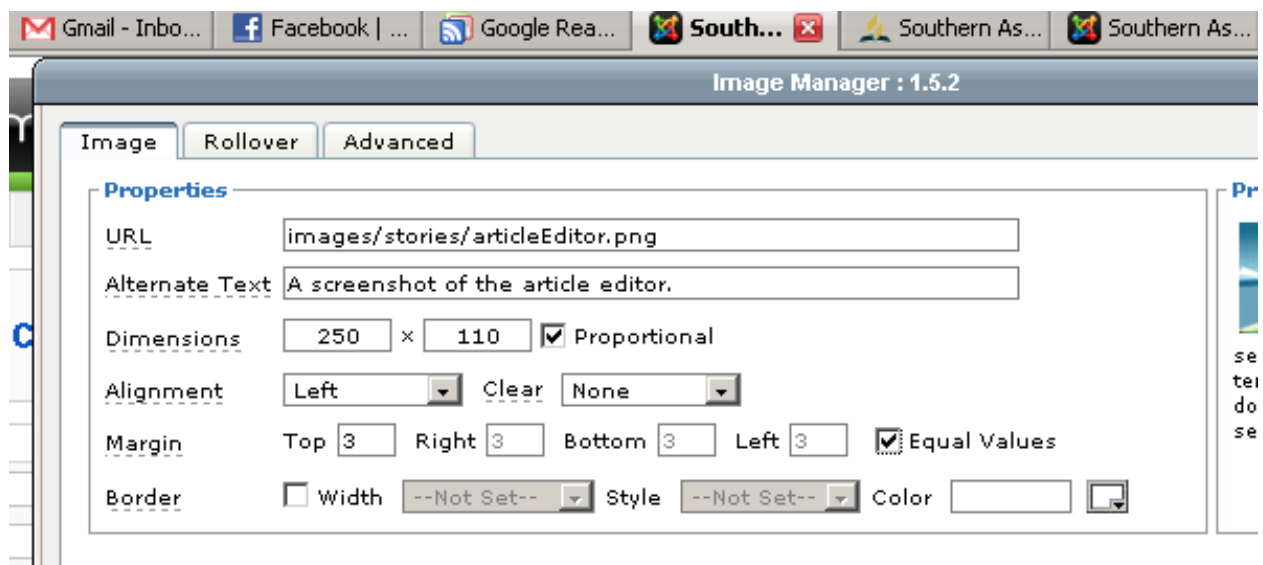

1. Next, set the "Dimensions" of the picture to something reasonable. The default dimensions are probably too big. A good thing to do here would be to leave "Proportional" checked (so that the original width to height ratio is preserved) and set the first box to something between 200 and 250 pixels. That is generally a good size for an image in an article.

2. Finally, you will probably want to set the "Alignment" of the image to either "Left" or "Right" so that the text of the article will flow around the image. You may also want to set a small "Margin" for the edges of the picture so that the text does not get too close.

3. Now all that you have to do is click "Insert" and the picture will be inserted into your article. If you want to make any changes to it later, simply select the picture and click on the "Insert/Edit Picture" button again.
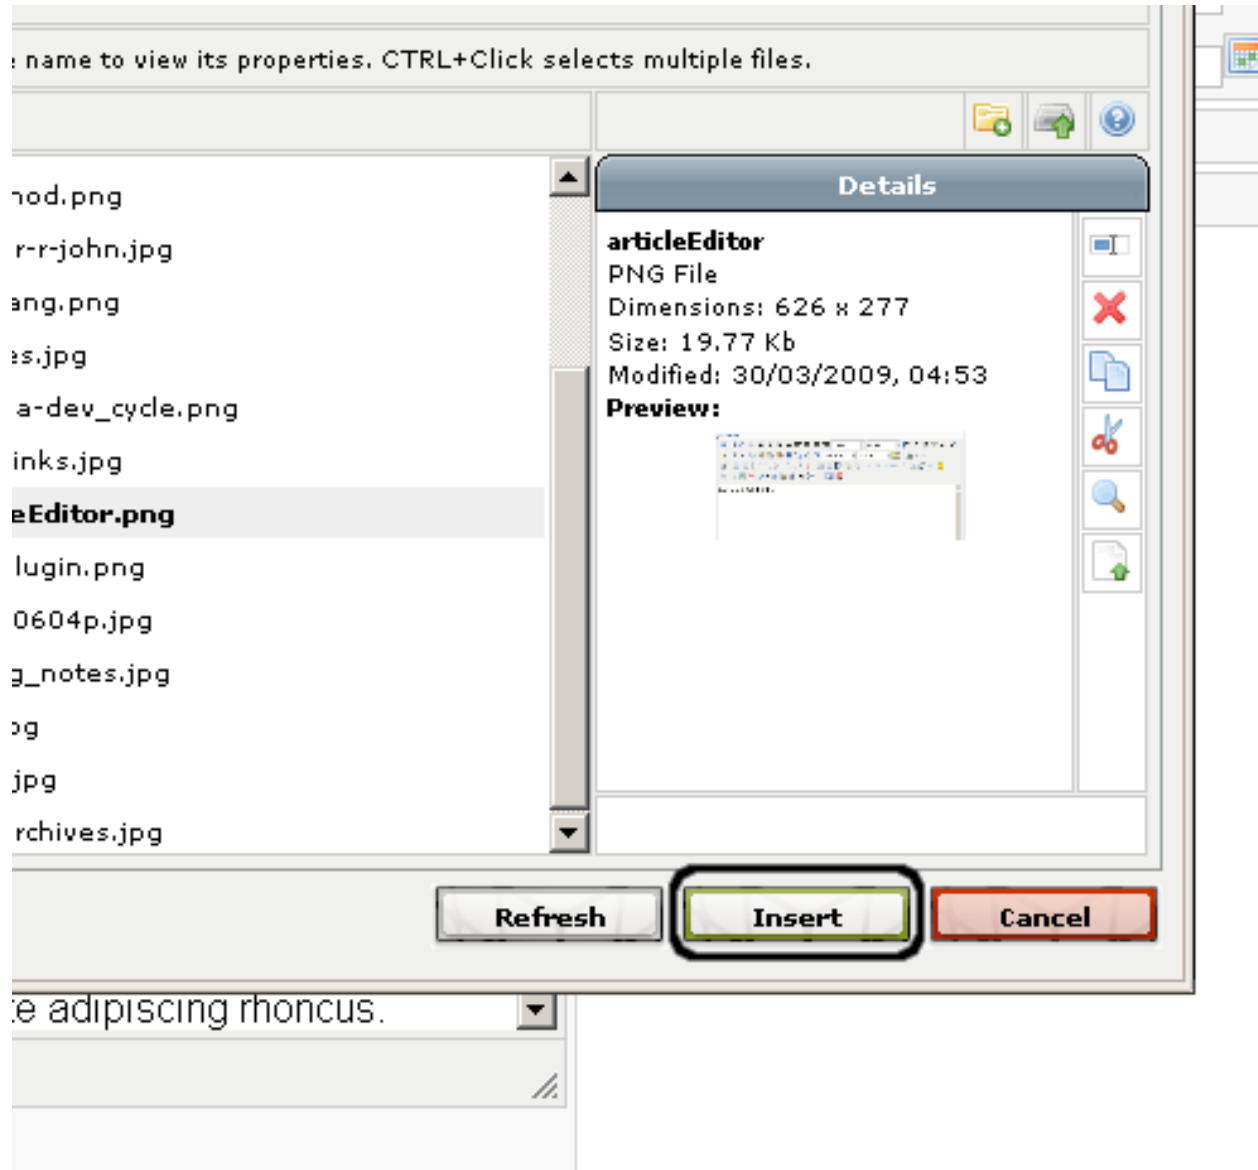

1.3 Managing Front Page Articles

- After you've added an article, if you chose to put it on the front page, you will find that the new article will appear before the "Welcome" article on the front page of the web site. This is undesirable and we are going to change it. First of all, select "Front Page Manager" in the "Content" drop-down menu.

- From the front page manager there are several things that you can do, including changing the order that articles appear on the front page, removing articles from the front page, and even changing their published status. We will just focus on changing the ordering of articles on the front page and removing articles from the front page entirely.

1.3.1 Ordering Articles on the Front Page

- Changing the ordering on the front page is incredibly easy. Just click on the green arrows next to the article you wish to move to change its order.

1.3.2 Removing Articles from the Front Page

- Removing Articles from the front page is quite easy, too. First, select the articles that you wish to removed by checking the boxes next to them.

- All you have to do now is click on the "Remove" button in the upper right hand corner of the page.
MANAGING THE DIRECTORY CONTACTS

The management of the contacts in the directory is accomplished through the directory component. It can be accessed by selecting "Contacts" from the "Directory" sub menu of the "Components" menu. MAKE SURE THAT YOU DO NOT TRY TO USE THE "Contacts" COMPONENT. It is not the same component and it will cause you to waste your time.
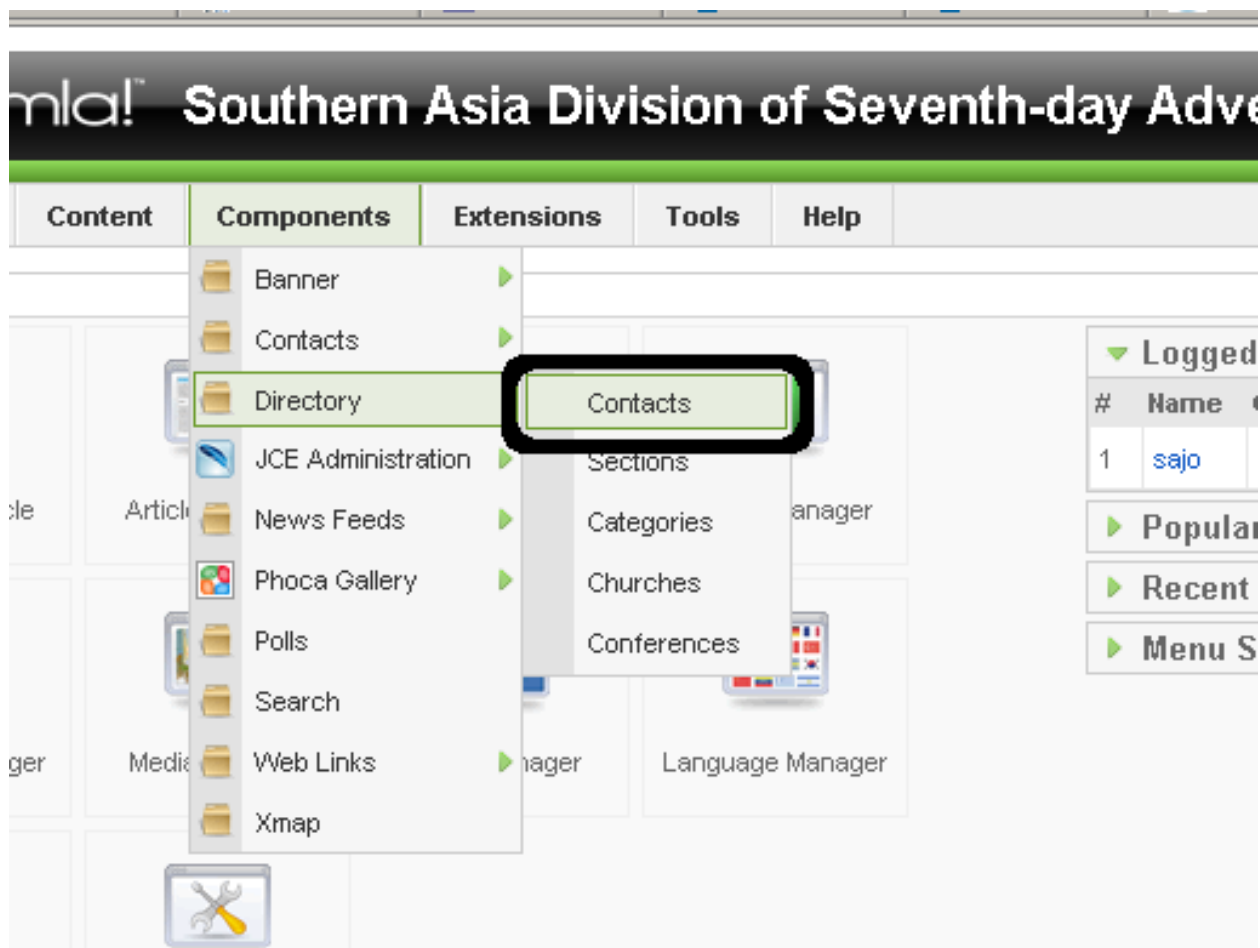

The way the contacts are organized is a little bit more complicated than any other entities on the Southern Asia Division website. Each contact can have multiple positions and each position can be with a different "Department" or "Category." Each "Department" or "Category" is then a member of a "Section." The "Sections" are what determine where a contact will show up. For example, a Contact that has a Position in a Department that is in the "Southern Asia Division" Section will show up in the main directory on the website. Similarly, a Contact that has a Position in one of the "Union" Categories (but not a department in the "Southern Asia Division" section) will not show up in the main directory, but they will show up in the list of contacts for that Union. A diagram may be useful for understanding the organization here.

Now that you have some idea of how the contacts portion of the directory component is organized we can begin. Let's start by adding a new contact.

2.1 Create a New Contact/Edit a Contact

1. The first step to creating a new contact is clicking on the "New" button in the upper right hand corner. (To edit a contact, click on the contact's name).
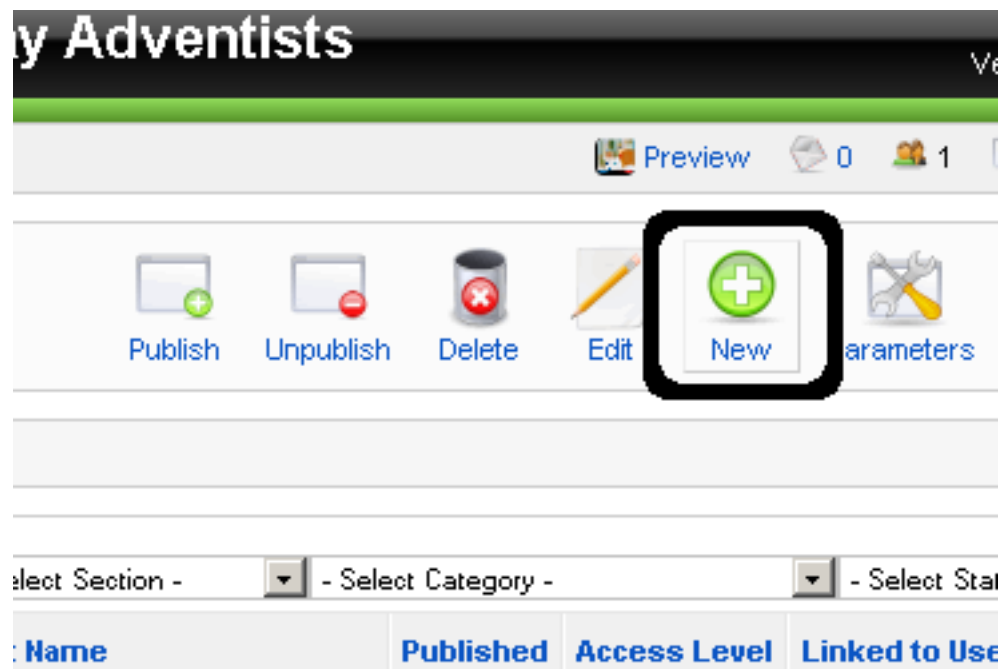

1. Once you find yourself on the New Contact page, you can start by filling out the "Details." The only fields here that are necessary to fill out are "First Name" and "Last Name." Alias will be populated automatically and the others do not need to be changed.

1. After filling out the "Details" the next step is to fill out the "Information" below it. All that is involved with that is filling out the e-mail address, telephone number and any relevant positions.

1. Now, if the contact you are entering has only one position then your task should be easy, simply fill out the title of the Contact's Position in the first box, you can skip filling out the order, and select a "Department" from the drop-down box. If you need to fill out another position, then click on the green "+" after filling out the first position and you will be able to add a new position.

1. If you mess up adding a position and need to delete it, all you have to do is click on the red "X" next to the position you need to delete. Now all you need to do is save the changes you've made. Just click on "Save" to save your changes and return to the list of contacts or click "Apply" to save your changes and stay on the same page.

1. That should also cover the information that you will need to edit a contact. The only thing that would be different is how you would access the contact. Simply click on the contact's name from the contact list.

2.2 Deleting Contacts

- Deleting contacts is very simple. Just check the boxes next to the contacts you wish to delete, then click on the "Delete" button.

2.3 Adding/Editing Contact Categories

1. The first step to organizing the directory contact categories is to move to the category management page. To do that select the "Categories" item in the "Directory" sub menu in the "Component" menu.
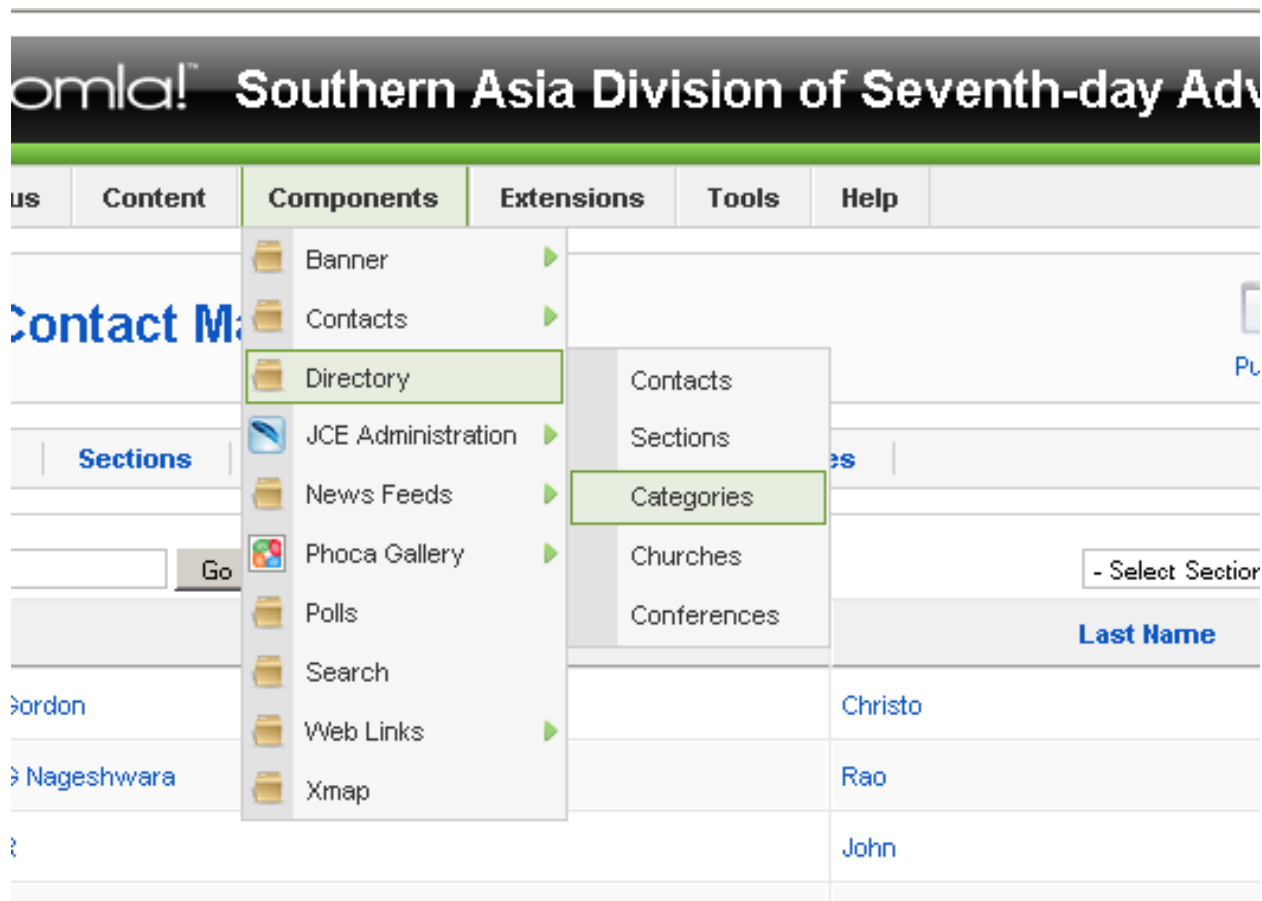

1. To add a category, click on the "New" button in the upper right hand corner. (If you want to edit a category, just click on the name of the category).

1. Now fill in the Details for the category – make sure to fill in the "Title" field and select a "Section." If the category is a department in the Southern Asia Division than you will want to select "Southern Asia Division" as the section. If the category is a Union, then select "Unions" as the section.

1. Now you can fill in a description for the directory if you'd like using the editor (see Managing Articles for more information about the editor). Finally, just click on "Save" or "Apply" in the upper right hand corner to save your changes.
